the game started with Hondo kickoff. The ball went past Corpus' line, but was brought back to the yard line. Corpus soon lost the downs, and Hondo, now in possession of the ball, carried it to Corpus' twenty yard line. Here, Hondo made a drop kick which failed and

Corpus, obtaining the ball, punted;

Hondo received, and did likewise. The ing across. Lacy kicked goal. Hondo kicked off, but the half was not over.

Between halves the referee declared method of kicking goal illegal; so score stood 6-0 in favor of H.H.S.

The second half began with Corpus going off, Hondo receiving on the 35

was a heart-breaking game for Hondo's undefeated eleven, especially at the end of the first half found the score 6-0 in their favor. In the Hondo boys' hearts seemed broken too soon, for they began to lose immediately after Corpus scored the first touchdown in the third quarter. Up to that period Hondo succeeded in keeping the ball in Corpus Christi territory most of the time. Their line weakened and in the period Bickley was able to buck

the line for a second touchdown.

Corpus kicked both goals.

Hondo had the drop on Corpus in the last few minutes of the game and intercepted pass. Manley got away with a 20-yard left end run. Motte and Bickley did the rest that was required for the second and last touchdown.

The pass which was largely responsible for the first Corpus touchdown was not completed by Corpus, but the distance was given by the umpire on the ground that a Hondo player illegally interfered with the man who was to receive the pass.

According to word from Roy B. Hen-contest while Eagle Lake of Section

This is Mr. Edison's Official Laboratory Model

It is the phonograph which the world uses today for all important musical events.

In a recent Broadway show, it supplied the off-stage music.

When the Prince of Wales visited this country, it played in his hotel suite.

The U. S. Post Office Department used it in its experiments with music for increasing the efficiency of mail clerks.

Dr. W. V. Bingham, Director of the Department of Applied Psychology at Carnegie Institute of Technology, used it in his experiments on the effects of music.

Harvard, Yale, Columbia, and many other universities used it in making tests of music's power to change human moods.

The Official Laboratory Model was chosen for all this work because it sustains the test of comparison with living artists,—and has therefore been accepted as the only phonograph which brings the true beauties and the full benefits of music.

The tests by which the Official Laboratory Model attained this recognition were continent-wide. Premier artists such as Case, Hempel, Muzio, Chalmers, Spalding, have compared their living performances with the RE-CREATIONS of those performances by the New Edison. These comparisons were made in famous auditoriums, such as Carnegie Hall, New York, Symphony Hall, Boston, etc. Thousands of people attended, including leading music critics. Newspapers such as the New York Times, New York Sun, Chicago Tribune, Cleveland Plain Dealer, San Francisco Examiner, published the facts of the Official Laboratory Model's triumphs. Even Bamboschek, leading conductor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, acknowledged that he could not tell living music from RE-CREATED music.

Hear the Official Laboratory Model,—and you, too, will discover that Mr. Edison has made his phonograph a new and finer kind of instrument.

Compare it with other phonographs and talking-machines,—and you will discover that the Official Laboratory Model stands for new standards in home music.

We cordially invite you to come in and hear the famous Official Laboratory Model.

The Test General Wingate Heard

—was made May 25th, 1921 in the 2nd Field Artillery Armory, Brooklyn, N. Y.,—before Reville Post No. 127, American Legion, and its friends. The illustration (from a photograph) shows Miss Helen Clark making the comparison which so impressed General Wingate.

General Wingate, who commanded the 52nd Field Artillery in its operations against the Hindenburg Line, said he could not tell Miss Clark's living voice from the Edison RE-CREATION of her voice.

For $

(Fill in your own first payment)

—we will deliver the wonderful Official Laboratory Model to your Christmas tree. Pay no more till next year. Then budget the balance according to your convenience.

The only condition to this remarkable offer is that you name an initial deposit which is sufficient to indicate good faith.

So, why consider any other phonograph? Come at once.

Let us show you the perfect realism of the New Edison,—let us explain Mood Music to you,—and all the other advantages which come from owning the Official Laboratory Model.

Did you know it plays all records?
Did you know that Edison is FIRST with Broadway Hits?

Then tell us how you wish to arrange your Christmas Budget,—and the wonderful Official Laboratory Model is yours.

Plain People.
"Now," said the mistress, "tell me about people you have worked for."
"I don't believe you'd be interested in hearing about them, ma'am," said the newly engaged cook. "All the people I've worked for owned flivvers and led a beautiful home life. Somehow scandals and flivvers don't go together."

The Judge's Little Joke.
"Your honor, my husband neglects me shamefully and loses all his money betting on horse races and playing the market."

"He's a high diver, your honor."

Too Valuable.
"What has become of the clerk with the big diamonds?"
"Had to let him go," replied the landlord. "He got to be too valuable. The guests began to take offense because he suspected everybody who wanted to talk to him of being a burglar or a kidnaper."

It Was Both.
"What do you think of Uncle Peter leaving all his money for a grand mausoleum over his remains?" said one needy relative.
"Awful," said the other; "it's just a willful waste."
"Huh! I call it a wasteful will."

A Limit Reached.
"Does your wife give you any suggestions about how to vote?"
"No," replied Mr. Meekton. "Henrietta says she's beginning to think she's got enough authority without trying to be a political boss."

The Main Thing.
"Do you suppose your grateful constituents will erect a monument to your memory after you are gone?"
"I don't know," said Senator Sports-worthy thoughtfully, "but I would be willing to dispense with a monument if my grateful constituents would guarantee that when I die I'd have a congressional funeral."

An Approval.
"Do you approve of the classics?"
"I do," replied Senator Sorghum. "The classics should be studied, the same as campaign platforms. They have their improving influences, even if you don't manage to remember much of what was in 'em."

Headwork.
"Did you say my head was solid ivory?"
"Mebbe I did," replied Mr. Erastus Pinkley, "but don't you make no more reaches like you had a razor, unless you want to get it in a museum as carved ivory."

Mean Allusion.
"Ma, what were the prehistoric times?"
"They were the times, my child, when Miss Primleigh and her friends fainted gracefully away every time anybody needed their help."

Mrs. J. W. Parker returned Wednesday from Fraktion, Texas, where she was called on account of the critical illness of her sister. While she left her sister much improved, she was still far from her normal health.

Instead of staying at home and feasting on turkey, Messrs. C. R. Gaines and R. W. Gaines spent Thanksgiving Day in the chaparral in quest of game. The efforts of each of the hunters was rewarded by the bagging of a fine, fat turkey.

The first freeze of the present winter occurred last Sunday morning. Cotton and other tender vegetation was considerably nipped. However the weather man has since made amends for his bad break by giving us balmy spring-like weather ever since.

After much threatening Wednesday night a light sprinkle of rain fell here. It settled the dust somewhat but was not sufficient to be of any material benefit. The precipitation was somewhat heavier east of here, and at Castroville amounted to .55 of an inch.

Thanksgiving Day was observed very quietly in Hondo Thursday. Most of the business places were closed all day and many of our people took advantage of the suspension of business to visit friends elsewhere. About the only other recognition of the day was a union service at the Baptist Church at eight o'clock in the morning.

Every one who could get away from the cares of business last Saturday went to San Antonio to root for "our boys" in the Hondo-Corpus Christi football game, and it was a disappointed bunch that came back. The boys themselves, who did all the fighting and lost, seemed the most philosophical of all and set some older ones a good example of game sportsmanship. Two versions of the game, borrowed from two separate sources, are printed on our front page.

Hondo's Next Trades Day.

Hondo's third regular Trades Day will be next Saturday, December 3rd. By watching the advertising columns of this and next issue of this paper you will observe that the local merchants are offering some splendid inducements for trade. You will be sure to find some deals in which you will be interested. But bargains are only an incident to and not all of the purpose of a Trades Day. Trades Days are designed to bring the people together so that those who have a surplus of any commodity or who have live stock, machinery, implements, etc., for which they have no further use may meet those of their neighbors who may need such things and the barter, exchange and sale of them be thus facilitated. Look around you, find something that has lost its usefulness to you or something of which you have a surplus and bring whatever it is to town with you on Trades Day and strike a deal with some one. It will be to the mutual advantage of both of you and help to make the day more interesting and worth while.

Southern Baptists Wage Vigorous Warfare Against Tuberculosis In This Section

FOUNTAIN PLAYS IN CENTER OF COURT BETWEEN TWO INFIRMARIES

One of the most extensive fights ever made by any religious body in America for the eradication of disease, Southern Baptists, through their Home Mission Board, have undertaken the task of combating tuberculosis in the 18 states comprising the territory of the Southern Baptist Convention. The first step in this direction was the recent establishment on a tract of 143 acres at El Paso, Texas, of the Southern Baptist Sanatorium, where $500,000 from the $15 Million Campaign has been expended and where $500,000 more will be expended by the end of the Campaign.

The institution is located at an altitude of 4,500 feet on the side of the Franklin and commands an excellent view of the mountains of New Mexico, Western Texas and Old Mexico, whose border is only six miles distant. Dr. H. F. Vermillion is superintendent.

Included in this plant at present are an administration building, the newly completed women's infirmary and men's infirmary, a heating and refrigerating plant and the superintendent's quarters. Provided for in the building plans for the future are a medical and educational building, a home, children's building, a convalescent hospital, a vocational and occupational therapy building, chapel, laundry and minor structures.

150 People Die Daily. Indicating the need of additional effort looking to the elimination of tuberculosis in the South, reliable figures gathered by the public health agencies of the South and the Nation show that there are 150 deaths daily from tuberculosis in the 18 states comprising the territory of the Southern Baptist Convention, making the annual death toll of the white plague in this section of the country alone

A RECREATION PATIO BETWEEN MEN'S AND WOMAN'S BLDG.

ENTRANCE TO ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

57,782. The death rate from tuberculosis is 14.3% higher in the South than in the Nation as a whole. One reason for the exceedingly high death rate in the South is the great prevalence of the plague among the negroes who are especially susceptible to tuberculosis, the death rate among them being three and one-half times that among the whites. But inasmuch as the negroes will doubtless continue to be intimately associated with the whites in domestic and other work in the future, the whites will never be safe from infection until the negroes, as well as the whites, have been freed from the plague.

It has been estimated that the total economic loss from the ravages of tuberculosis in the South is $175,000,000 a year, and in projecting their warfare against the plague the Baptists hope to greatly reduce this loss, as well as to save the life and promote the health and general efficiency of the whole people.

Would Educate the People. In addition to providing treatment for persons who have already contracted tuberculosis, the sanatorium is carrying on an educational work that seeks to inform the public at large through the printed page, as to the danger of tuberculosis, how it can be avoided and how, once it is contracted, its progress can be arrested through proper sanitary measures at home. Other phases of the educational program include the training of workers inside the sanatorium and occupational and vocational work for patients. The extension department is widely disseminating literature on how to combat tuberculosis. An endowment fund that is being created for the institution will make possible a much larger circulation of literature and will also enable the institution to take care of indigent patients.

The sanatorium is at present seeking to devise special plans whereby it can serve the negroes of the South in combating tuberculosis. It is felt that the negroes' inability to help themselves in the matter entitles them to this consideration and that the assistance should be given, furthermore, as a means of self-protection on the part of the whites.

Other Phases of Baptist Work. In addition to the Tuberculosis Sanatorium, Southern Baptists have string of seventeen regular hospitals in operation and seven others under course of construction. This hospital property is valued at approximately $7,000,000 and these institutions last year treated 46,000 patients many of them being charity cases. Southern Baptists also operate 19 orphanages in which approximately 5,000 orphan boys and girls are cared for, educated and trained for Christian citizenship.

Guliam-Lacy.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was solemnized at the Methodist church Thanksgiving afternoon when Miss Florence Lacy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Lacy, was united in marriage to Ashbel Guliam, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Guliam.

The impressive ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. G. Smith at 5 o'clock. Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Orcenith A. Fly sang, "At Dawning" accompanied by Mrs. W. H. Smith, who played softly during the service.

As the wedding march from Lohengrin was played, the bride and groom, Misses Pan Guliam and Evelyn Lacy, entered with the bridegroom's attendants, Selby Woods and Earl Lacy, followed by the bride and groom.

The church was artistically decorated in ferns and baskets of white chrysanthemums.

The bride was attired in a navy blue coat suit, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. The bridesmaids carried bouquets of white chrysanthemums.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. D. W. Short. Delicious refreshments were served.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Guliam left in their car for a lengthy tour, after which they will be at home up Hondo.

Richartz-Prince.

A quiet wedding was solemnized Wednesday, November 23, 1921 at 4 o'clock, when Miss Laura Prince became the bride of Mr. Edgar Richartz, at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rudiger. Judge Alf. Zinsmyer performed the ceremony.

They will make their home in Con Can, where Mr. Richartz is engaged in the cattle business.

To the happy couple the Star and a host of other friends extend best wishes for a long life of happiness and prosperity. —D'Hanis Star.

Married.

Mr. Emil Riff of New Fountaine and Miss Olga Heyen of Hondo were happily married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Schweers, at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, November 24, 1921. The nuptial ceremony was performed by Rev. G. W. Muennink, pastor of the New Fountain German-Methodist Church.

After a brief honeymoon trip to points east, the happy pair will be at home to their friends at New Fountain.

This paper joins the friends of the happy pair in congratulations and best wishes.

Pains Were Terrific

Read how Mrs. Albert Gregory, of R. F. D. No. 1, Blufford, Ill., got rid of her ills. "During . . . I was awfully weak. . . I thought I would die. The bearing-down pains were actually so severe I could not stand the pressure of my hands on the lower part of my stomach. . . I simply felt as if life was for but a short time. My husband was worried. . . One evening, while reading the Birthday Almanac, he came across a case similar to mine, and went straight for some Cardui for me to try.

"I took it faithfully and the results were immediate," adds Mrs. Gregory. "I continued to get better. All my ills left me, and I went through . . . with no further trouble. My baby was fat and strong, and myself—thank God—am once more hale and hearty, can walk miles, do my work, though 44 years old, feel like a new person. All I owe to Cardui." For many years Cardui has been found helpful in building up the system when run down by disorders peculiar to women.

To The Man Who Fails.

Let others sing to the hero who wins in the ceaseless fray. Who, over the crushed and fallen, pursues his upward way; For him let them weave the laurel, to him be their pean sung. Whom the kindly fates have chosen, who are happy their loved among; But mine be a different message, some soul in its stress to reach, To bind, o'er the wound of failure, the balm of pitying speech; To whisper: "Be up and doing, for courage at last prevails." I sing—who have sipped with Failure, —I sing to the man who fails.

I know how the gray cloud darkens, and mantes the soul in gloom; I know how the spirit harkens to voices of doubt or of doom; I know how the tempter mutters his terrible word, "Despair!" But the heart has its secret chamber, and I know that our God is there. Our years are as moments only; our failures He counts as naught; The stone that the builders rejected, perchance is the one that He sought. Mayhap, in the ultimate judgment, the effort alone avails. And the laurel of great achievement shall be for the man who fails.

We sow in the darkness only; but the Reaper shall reap in light; And the day of his perfect glory shall tell of the deeds of the night. We gather our gold, and store it, and the whisper is heard, "Success!" But, tell me, ye cold, white sleepers, what were an achievement less? We struggle for fame, and win it; and, like a fleeting breath, It is lost in the realm of silence, whose ruler and king is Death. Where are the Norseland heroes, the ghosts of a housewife's tales? I sing, for the Father heeds him,—I sing to the man who fails.

Oh, men, who are labelled "failures," up, rise up! again and do! Somewhere in the world of action is room; there is room for you. No failure was ever recorded, in the annals of truthful men. Except of the craven-hearted who fail, nor attempts again. The glory is in the doing, and not in the trophy won; The walls that are laid in darkness my laugh to the kiss of the sun. Oh, weary, and worn and stricken, oh, child of fate's cruel gales! I sing—that it haply may cheer him,—I sing to the man who fails.

—Alfred J. Waterhouse.

No one need be a failure who can rise and fight again!

BETTER a crust and sweet content Than much gold in misery spent!

It takes more stamina to stand defeat than it does to tuck the line to success!

THE opponents of Governor Neff have splashed around mightily in the political waters seeking a candidate to oppose the governor. Numerous ambitious ones have felt the waters and found them too cold. And so far, there is no one who has definitely decided to lead the opposition. Of course, it is too early yet to say that he will have no opposition, but it grows less likely every day that a man of gubernatorial size can be found who will try to crystallize around his personality the elements opposed to the governor and his policies. The burnt child has nothing in its fear of fire over the average politician's fear of the second term booger-bear.

CHIEF Justice Nelson Phillips of the State Supreme Court has resigned to resume the private practice of law. In this resignation, the state loses the services of an able jurist and one whose opinions were generally safe, sane and sound. In this day of modern tendencies toward centralization, paternalism and socialism the country can ill spare the services of such men because such men are becoming few and far between among present day office holders. Judge Phillips's successor, Attorney General C. M. Cureton, is an able lawyer and has rendered the state much valuable service in the attorney general's department. It is to be trusted that the judicial mantle has fallen on worthy shoulders.

AN incorrigible boy who had been sent to the state reformatory at Gatesville, because society had no other means of either protecting itself from him or protecting the boy from himself, died recently from the effects of punishment inflicted upon him by one of the employees of the institution because of his disobedience to the rules. Of course, the tragedy is deplored by all humane feeling people. But it was merely one of those sad but inevitable consequences that are to be expected when incorrigibility pits itself against superior authority. It is liable to happen any where any day where there are rules to be obeyed and authority to enforce obedience. Instead of the public recognizing that the authorities at the school are dealing with an abnormal set of children that are to be controlled only by severe means, the occasion has made been one for the spilling of much maudlin sentiment. Under the sting of a censure that is neither deserved by him nor based on any rational understanding Fletcherized Farm Facts.

BY FLETCHER DAVIS

According to the ginners report of November 9th, Texas had ginned, up to November 1st, 1,930,266 bales against 2,901,057 bales up to the same period last year. The figures for Medina County were for 1921, 3,034 bales as against 3,543 bales last year. Owing to the almost complete absence of a top crop over much of the State and the favorable weather for picking during September and October the crop was practically harvested by that time. Although larger than earlier estimates indicated, the yield will still be smaller as a whole than for many years previous. What is true of Texas is true, likewise, of most of the cotton belt and the crop of 1921 is not likely to exceed seven million bales.

Notwithstanding the smallest crop in almost forty years, the price continues to flirt dangerously with a downward tendency and most of those who are selling at prevailing prices are doing so at a loss, for on an average the crop is not bringing cost of production.

If impossible to market a seven million bale crop at a profitable price why plan to grow a larger acreage with the hope of securing a profitable price for a still greater supply in excess of the world's demands? Better make your plans to produce something else.

An announcement of considerable interest to agriculturists all over the State, and particularly Farm Bureau members, was sent from the Dallas headquarters of that organization November 15th. It is to the effect that G. H. Alford has resigned his position as editor of the Progressive Farmer to accept the position of secretary of the Farm Bureau. The Bureau thus secures the services of what the Progressive Farmer loses, an able, conscientious man. The name of his successor on the Progressive Farmer has not yet been publicly announced.

The setting of onions is well under way over the onion growing section of the state and indications are that there will be a large acreage again this season. Some growers have already contracted this crop at from $1.00 to $1.50 per crate. If labor prices continue reasonable and yields are fair there should be a good profit in onions at this price. At any rate, by contracting the crop in advance the grower knows just what to expect in the way of price and is thus relieved of fruitless worries over price fluctuations. The growing of perishable crops under contract is becoming more general every year and should have a tendency to steady the market more generally toward profitable price levels.

From an Extension Service Press Letter we condense the following: Some communities are burning the grasses and trash along fences, ditches and similar places commonly used as hibernating places of the boll weevil. This is a mistake at this time since the weevils do not go into hibernation until heavy frost becomes general and will continue their migration for some weeks. Should they find such places burned, they will continue their migration until suitable places can be found. It is recommended that the burning of these places be delayed until the middle of December at the earliest, although the first of January would be better. By this time all of the weevils should be congregated in the hibernation places and may then be destroyed. Intensive clean up measures for the Fall and the burning of hibernation places in the Winter have been recommended. In regard to the burning of cotton stalks on the field, it is realized that this will accomplish great results in control. However, one hesitates to recommend the burning of stalks as a general measure on account of the consequent removal of organic matter. The individual farmer must decide for himself which out weighs the other. It is thought that in sections where early Fall plowing can be practiced, this method of control will accomplish practically the same results as the burning of the stalks without the disadvantage of the latter methods.

of the difficulties under which he labored, Superintendent King has done only what any other sensitive man would have done—resigned. Meantime, a new and inexperienced superintendent will have to take charge of an institution the inmates of which have been emboldened to still more flagrant refractions of discipline as a consequence of this disruption in the management, and society will be fortunate indeed if it is not, sooner or later, given worse shocks than this as a consequence of the maudlin sentiment that has been so conspicuous in this deplorable affair.

"Too late!" he cried, as Grey snatched the empty paper from his fingers. "Too late! Well, I guess I beat you all out, eh? And, as I said before, what are you going to do about it? Twenty years, eh, Jim?
You'll be scrawny and rheumatic by that time, and the beautiful Beulah will be fat and figureless. Twenty years for you, Jim, but 20 minutes for me—and I wouldn't trade with you, damn you! I beg the pardon of the ladies present. One should never forget to be a gentleman, even when—when—"

breath. "Let me lie down, can't you?
Have I got to die on end, like a mur-derer?"
They led him to the adjoining room, where he fell upon the bed. The muscles of his great arms and neck were working in contortions, and his tongue seemed to fill his mouth.
"Most extraordinary," said the coroner. "Strychnine, doubtless. We can't do much for him, I'm afraid. He might try some mustard and hot water, Mrs. Arthurs."
"Take your time, Lil," whispered Arthurs. "You may save your country a long board bill." But Lillian Arthurs' abhorrence of Gardiner's perfidy had been overwhelmed in a wave of sympathy for a suffering fellow being. She hurried to the kitchen, while the men of the party filed down the stairs and out into the yard. John Harris was the last to leave the house, and he walked slowly, with bare, bowed head, into the group who were excitedly discussing the amazing utterance had taken. He took no part in their conversation, but stood a little apart, plunged deep in his own inward struggle.
"At last he turned and called his wife in the kitchen door. "Bring Beulah," he said.
The two women joined him. At first Harris stood with face averted,
but in a moment he spoke in a clear,
quiet voice.
"I haven't played the game fair with you two," he said, "and I want to say so now. Perhaps it would be truer to say that I played the wrong game.
Twenty-five years have proved it was the wrong game. Now, without a penny, I can start just where I started 25 years ago. The only difference is that I am an old man instead of a young one. I'm going to take another homestead and start again, at the right game, if Mary will start with me."
She put her hand in his, and her eyes were bright again with the fire of youth. "You know there is only one answer, John," she whispered.
Harris called Travers over from the group of men.

"There's one thing more," he continued. "When I started I had only a wife to keep, and I don't intend to take any bigger responsibility now.
Allan will be having a homestead of his own. Jim Travers, I am speaking to you! I owe you an apology for some things, but I'm going to square the debt with the only gift I have left."

The light breeze tossed the hair of Beulah's uncovered head, and the light of love and health glowed in her face and thrilled through the fine symmetry of her figure.
"Take her, Jim," he said.
"She is a goodly gift," said the young man reverently.
"You think so now," said her father.
"You know nothing about it. In twenty-five years you will know just how great a gift she is—or she will not be worthy of her mother."
Harris and his wife were gazing with unseeing eyes into the mountains
when Arthurs handed them a letter.
"It came in the mail which the boys brought out this morning," he said,
"and I forgot all about it until this minute."
It was from Bradshaw. Harris opened it indifferently, but the first few lines aroused his interest, and he read it eagerly to the end.
"My dear Harris," it ran, "on receipt of your telegram I immediately opened negotiations through my connections looking to the sale of your farm with its crop and equipment,

complete as a going concern. I succeeded in getting an offer of the $40,- 000 you set on it, and had all the papers drawn up, when I discovered that among us we had made a serious omission. You will remember that, a good many years ago, when you were taking on some fresh obligations, you transferred the homestead into your wife's name. I assured the purchaser that there would be no difficulty about getting title from your wife, but as all the buildings are on the homestead quarter he would agree to nothing better than paying $20,000 for the rest of your land, leaving the homestead quarter, with the buildings, stock and implements out of the transaction. As his price seemed a fair one for the balance of the property, and as I assumed your need of the money was urgent, I closed a deal on that basis, cashed the agreement and remitted the proceeds to you at once by wire. I trust my actions in the matter meet with your approval.
"Yours sincerely,
"GEORGE BRADSHAW."

Harris placed the letter in the hands of his wife. She tried to read it, but a great happiness enveloped her as a flood and the typewritten characters seemed to swim before her.
"What does it mean, John?" she asked,
noting his restrained excitement.
"What does it mean?"
"It means that the homestead quarter was not sold—after all—that it is still yours, with the buildings, and machinery, and stock, and this year's crop just ready for cutting."
She raised her eyes to his. "Still ours, John, you mean. Still ours."
In the rapid succession of events everyone seemed to have forgotten, or disregarded, Gardiner. But at this moment the doctor came rushing out of the house.
"Gardiner's gone!" he exclaimed,
as he came up to the men.
Some of the party removed their hats.
"Oh, not that way—not that way!"
exclaimed the doctor. "I mean he's gone—skipped—beat it. If you understand. Most extraordinary! I was taking his pulse. It was about normal, and he seemed resting easier, so I slipped downstairs for the antidote.
When I went back—I was only gone a moment—there wasn't a sight or sound of him."

Sergeant Grey conducted a swift examination, not of Gardiner's room, but of the one in which Allan was lying. He was rewarded by finding the little slip of paper, with a few crystals of powder still clinging to it. The coroner examined the crystals through his magnifying glass; then, somewhat dubiously, raised them on a moistened finger to his tongue, and after a moment's hesitation swallowed in an impressive, scholarly fashion.
"Saccharum album!" he exclaimed.
"Common white sugar! Most extraordinary!"
But Sergeant Grey was at the open window. It was only an eight-foot drop to the soft earth, and to the police man there was no longer any mystery in Gardiner's disappearance. The mock suicide was a carefully-planned ruse to be employed by Gardiner if the worst came to the worst.
"I want all of you men, and a horse for each," said Grey, quickly, turning upon them like a general marshaling his officers. "There are a dozen different trails he may follow, and we must put a man on each. I will give immediate pursuit, in the hope of riding him down before he can throw us off
the scent and I will leave it to you, Mr. Arthurs, to organize the posse and scour the whole country until he is located."
Grey knew that the main road, if followed far enough, dwindled into a pack trail, which in turn seemed to lose itself in the fastnesses of the mountains, but in reality opened into a pass leading through the range. He gave Gardiner credit for knowing as much, and concluded that the fugitive would make a bolt straight through the mountains.
An hour's hard riding brought him into a tremendously rough country, where the trail at times was nothing more than a narrow defile or ledge, and sheer walls of rock rose thou-

TRUTH TRIUMPHS.
Hondo Citizens Testify for the Public Benefit.

A truthful statement of a Hondo citizen, given in his own words, should convince the most skeptical about the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills. If you suffer from backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, urinary disorders or any form of kidney ills, use a tested kidney medicine.

A Hondo citizen tells of Doan's Kidney Pills.
Could you demand more convincing
proof of merit?
F. H. Bohlen, proprietor of a repair shop, Hondo, says: "I always use Doan's Kidney Pills when my back bothers me and they never fail to help me. My back ached at times and I had sort of a dull pain in my kidneys. I was often dizzy and black specks appeared before my eyes. My kidneys acted irregularly and the secretions were highly colored and burned in passage. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured the attack. My back is now as strong as iron and my kidneys act regularly. I think the world of sands of feet above, their giant edges cutting the blue sky like the teeth of a mighty saw. Far below, a ribbon of green and white, the river rolled in its canyon. Here and there a thin stream of water sprayed down the mountain side, cutting a damp, treacherous belt across the trail. But at one such spot Grey's heart leaped within him, for there, unmistakably clear in the thin soil and soft rock, were the marks of a horse's shoe, not an hour old. A few minutes later he saw Gardiner swinging round a spur of rock half a mile further up the pass.

Suddenly, at a turn in the path, his eye caught a sight which made him throw his horse back on his tracks. A sheer precipice fell away a thousand feet below him, and beetling cliffs cut off the sky above. Across the path trickled a little stream. And there in the stream, so clear they could not be misread, were the marks cut by a horse's feet sliding over the precipice.

The policeman dismounted carefully.
There was scarcely room for him to pass his horse on the narrow ledge.
Where the stream had worn it it sloped downwards at an uncomfortable angle. He knelt beside it and traced the marks of the shoe-calls with his finger. They led over the edge. Eighteen inches down the mountain side was a fresh scar where steel had struck a projecting corner of rock.

A thousand feet below the green water slid and swirled in the bed of the canyon.

51 COMMUNITIES IN THE SOUTHWESTERN DIVISION HAVE HAD TO MEET DISASTER SINCE THE ARMISTICE, AND THE RED CROSS HAS SPENT $1,600,000 IN HELPING IN THE REHABILITATION OF THESE COMMUNITIES.

THE SOUTHWEST KNOWS THAT THE RED CROSS CAN BE DEPENDED ON IN TIME OF NEED

THE RED CROSS NOW IS DEPENDING ON YOU TO HELP KEEP IT IN A STATE OF PREPAREDNESS

Children being weighed and measured in the baby clinic at Sugar Creek, Missouri. About 30 babies and their mothers attend this clinic each time it is held. The two shown in this picture are 100 per cent perfect. SALVAGE FROM AMERICAN RAG BAGS CLOTHES DESTITUTE EUROPE

Great-hearted women all over the United States are busy salvaging the waste of this country to clothe the destitute of America and the war-stricken children of Europe. All sorts of comfortable and, in many cases, really beautiful garments are made from the contents of the rag bags of America.

In the Red Cross workshops throughout the Southwestern Division women with clever brains and skilled hands fashion children's stockings from the legs of the worn-out stockings of the grown-ups. Warm caps are made from the tops of men's woolen socks. Little shirts come from the unworn sections of discarded underwear of men and women. Old coats and trousers form new suits for boys, and women's dresses are cut down into the smaller garments of children. Odds and ends of carpet and heavy woolen material become slippers for invalids. Bits of ribbons grow into hat trimmings for children, and even the pocket flaps and collars of women's coats, past wearing in their original form, can be used for hats and caps for children.

An exhibition of the salvage from the rag bags of some American cities was one of the interesting features of the recent Red Cross Convention in Columbus, Ohio. Everything shown had come from some garment which had literally been thrown away by its original owner because it was in too bad a state of dilapidation for further use, and the ingenuity displayed in the process of making something wearable and good out of what appeared to be nothing, was remarkable. These garments were made by the volunteer workers of the various Red Cross workshops in America. Many of them came from sections in the Southwest, where such work is being done.

FIRST AID TO JOURNALS.

"That's a rather heavy paperweight you have on your desk," remarked the visitor.

"So it is," said the editor of the Treadline Clarion. "That's what I call my 'mollifier'."

"Yes?"

"Sometimes an infuriated citizen comes into my sanctum seeing red and vowing to skin me alive. I toy with this paperweight a little and it isn't forty seconds before his temperature is normal again."

Quite Evident.

"Do animals go to heaven when they die?" a small boy asked his mother.

"Why, no, dear."

"Well, where do elephants, hippos, potosies, snakes and lions go when they die?"

"They go to the museums, of course," piped his little brother, who had been listening to the conversation.

Valuable By-Product.

Editor—Have you cut out a lot of the phrases as I suggested?

Author—Yes, and found a good market for them.

Editor—What do you mean?

Author—I tied the discarded phrases up into dozen lots and sold them as vers libre.

She: More likely I'll have to make you a good one.

The Important Item.

He wanted to win.

But he wanted to shirk.

And he couldn't break in.

Till he wanted to work.

Lobbying.

"What does that lobbyist want to see you about?"

"I fancy," replied Senator Sorghum, "that he wants to find out which way I intend to vote. Then if my intentions are favorable to his interests he will represent to his employers that he has exercised the greatest influence."

A Short Trip to the Beyond.

"The medium is about to go into a trance."

"But she's a practical person."

"How so?"

"I overheard her whisper to her assistant that ten minutes in Spookland would be long enough, as there is a crowd of pikers present."

A Mail Order.

Angelina—Don't tell me you haven't been kissing other girls.

Al—Why, I never—

Angelina—Yes, you have. One of your yumyum letters to me was delivered by mistake to the girl next door.

More to Come.

Mother—James! Do you see that child pounding on the baseboard? And he has the hatchet!

Harassed Father—Yes, better take it from him. He'll need it after awhile for the piano legs.

The Safety Zone.

He (full of news)—There's something going around that will interest you!

She—Well, be careful, there are some pins in my waist.

A LITERARY MAN.

"Didn't Peggy marry a literary man?"

"Dear me, no; he's a magazine writer."

Queer.

Her name was Short, his name was Long.

They married; now you see she's always Long, and he's always short—

How can such queer things be?

The Society Whirl.

Mrs. Casey (at Revere Beach)—Well, will yez look at Mrs. De Style and her darter gettin' on the merry-go-round.

Mrs. Rafferty—Shure; let us get on, too, and thin we'll be able to say that we wance moved in the same circle as Mrs. De Style.

A Clue.

"The evidence seems to show," said the detective, "that the thief wore rubbers and walked backwards."

"Then we must look out for a man with receding gums," remarked the wag of the force.

Expected.

"That couple have just come back from their wedding trip dead broke."

"Well, it is only natural for a honeymoon to come to its last quarter."

In Memory of Our Darling Baby Joseph Martin Schneider.

My own little darling,
My precious baby boy;
I loved you, loved you darling,
You were my every joy.

And now you have gone away,
My own, my baby son,
Yet I will have to stay
Without my little one.

Your dear little form
Was cold as cold could be,
It broke my heart, baby,
I could not bear to see.

Your pretty baby eyes
That gladdened so for me,
Are closed now forever
And them I'll never see.

Your little face and lips, dear,
That I so often kissed
And felt the quick response,
Are oh! so awfully missed.

Our home is not the place
That once it used to be,
For you, my precious darling
Are no more with me.

Now you are an Angel
With our Father above,
For a time we will have to part
No matter how dearly we love.

You have gone, my little Joseph Yet I will never, never forget
But long will mourn for you dear
Till we again have met.

God took you so soon
My darling little one,
Oh! help me to understand
That "God's will be done!"

If you ever tried to steer one you wouldn't ask.

ANNUAL ROLL CALL FOR ARMISTICE DAY

Red Cross to Enroll
Members Throughout Nation
November 11 to 24.

American Red Cross will conduct its Fifth Annual Roll Call this year, beginning on Armistice Day, Nov. 11, and ending the eve of Nov. 24. National headquarters in Washington, division headquarters in the eight divisions of the Red Cross, and headquarters of each of the 2,000 chapters, are urged to enroll members. Information given to the Roll Call headquarters will be to re-enroll every member of the Red Cross and to add new members to the list. The Roll Call is the most important of the Red Cross's many peace-time programs. It is the only one in which the Red Cross is able to reach every citizen of the United States. The Roll Call is the only one in which the Red Cross is able to reach every citizen of the United States.

W. Frank Persons, vice-president of the American Red Cross, said today that the strength of the Red Cross in the past has been its peace-time program. He urged that all chapter membership lists be re-enrolled. The Roll Call is a logical channel for bringing former workers back to the Red Cross. PUBLIC HEALTH NURSES CARE FOR 200,000 IN THE SOUTHWEST

Workers in Red Cross Chapters in Seven States Have Big Job.

If the 194 public health nurses now working under the emblem of the Red Cross in the Southwestern Division of the American Red Cross were withdrawn tomorrow, more than 200,000 sick and infirm men, women and children would be left without nursing care and advice, according to Miss Olive Chapman, Director of Nursing of the Southwestern Division of the American Red Cross.

The Public Health Nurse is one of the most important officers in the American Red Cross today. Her job is to help the people to get well and to keep well. She teaches mothers how to look after their babies and school children how to avoid illness and disease. She is found in schools, homes, playgrounds, industrial plants, department stores, hospitals, and health centers. Her work is in the small towns and in the big cities, in the rural communities and in the lonely mountain regions of the West. She is wherever there is need for her service, regardless of race, religion or social conditions.

Any form of community work in which the health of the public is concerned is hers. She visits the rich and the poor alike and teaches both the common sense rules of good health. She locates tuberculous patients and cares for them, and at the same time teaches the families how to prevent the disease from spreading to other members. She assists in school medical inspection of children and follows defective children into their homes to advise the parents and induce them to act on the advice of the school doctor. She watches over families in which there are contagious diseases, such as diphtheria, scarlet fever, whooping cough and influenza, and teaches the families how to isolate the patient so as to prevent infection.

She takes care of the mother before the baby arrives and builds for the future by showing the mother how to care for her baby. She gives instruction in sanitary living conditions, and even at times in questions of diet. She is the closest point of contact between the great American Red Cross and the public.

There is a known shortage in the United States today of several thousand public health nurses and there is a greater shortage of hospital and private nurses. Many chapters in the Southwestern Division of the American Red Cross maintain public health nurses and conduct work of a greater or less scope through the agency of such a nurse. These chapters are depending upon the membership fees coming in from the annual Red Cross Roll Call to finance their public health nursing program for the coming year. The Roll Call will take place November 11th to 24th, according to announcement given out at the local Red Cross headquarters.

MALNUTRITION IN AMERICA AMONG RICH AND POOR ALIKE

Only four per cent of the children in the plains section in the United States are normal, according to a survey recently made by the American Red Cross and the United States Public Health Service jointly. A large percentage of subnormal children are so because of malnutrition. Malnutrition is answerable for more ill in the child life of America than any other one cause. It has been ascertained, and this condition is found as frequently among the children of the rich as in the families of the poor.

The Red Cross, through its nutrition classes and diet educational work, is endeavoring to correct the widespread condition of under-nourishment and to lay the foundation for a healthier next generation by building up the strength of the children. In the United States there are over 1,000 nutrition classes in which more than 22,000 children are enrolled. In addition to this there are 163 classes in Food Selection with over 1,500 students, all of whom either are in advanced school grades or are adults.

With a work of this magnitude, with an effort constantly to increase its scope, the Red Cross hopes in the next few years to teach American children what to eat, when to eat it, and how much of it to eat, so that under-nourishment will no longer be a menace to the health of the nation.

SOUTHWESTERN GIRLS SERVING AS RED CROSS NURSES IN RUSSIA

The American Red Cross Commission to western Russia and the Baltic States, which is under the direction of Lieutenant Colonel Edward W. Ryan, issues a monthly bulletin printed in English, and giving news of the work of the commission. The last number to reach this country is the September issue. In it there is mention of three Southwestern Division workers who had arrived during August. They are Miss Nell W. Crouch, of Lawrence, Kan.; Miss Hazel M. Drake and Miss Gladys S. Nicholson, of Kansas City. They have joined the commission as nurses and bring the total of nurses on the commission's staff up to twelve. Miss Nicholson and Miss Crouch have been assigned to the Libeau District and Miss Drake goes to Kovno.

FIFTH RED CROSS ROLL CALL

NOTED MEN MAKE PLEA FOR RED CROSS

That the American Red Cross is a non-sectarian and non-political organization is evident from the many letters received in Washington recently from men of national and international prominence, congratulating the new Chairman of the Red Cross Central Committee, Judge John Barton Payne, on his appointment to the head of the organization. Messages were received from President Harding, Vice-President Coolidge, General John J. Pershing, Chief Justice of the United States William Howard Taft, Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes, His Eminence Cardinal Dougherty, the Surgeon General of the Army General M. W. Ireland, Secretary Denby of the Navy, from Bishop William F. McDowell of the Methodist Episcopal Church, the Polish Minister, Prince Casimir Lubomirski, His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell, Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, Right Reverend Bishop Daniel S. Tuttle, Presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church in America, Kathleen Booth of the Salvation Army, Secretary of Labor James A. Davis, Secretary Andrew W. Mellon of the Treasury, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York, and from others of equal note. Letters from Cardinals Dougherty and O'Connell follow:

"His Excellency, the President of the United States having declared by proclamation that the Annual Membership Roll Call of the American Red Cross shall begin on Armistice Day and continue until November 24th, I deem it a duty to exhort all our citizens to enroll themselves in this admirable organization, which, for many years past, and especially during the World War, has rendered to mankind such noble services and benefactions. 'In times of peace, it has come to the rescue of the victims of pestilence, famine, fire, floods, and other great calamities; and it strives to devise and carry on measures for preventing the causes of suffering.'

"In war, it has been a medium of communication between the American people and their Army and Navy; and it has cared for the sick and wounded throughout the world, irrespective of race and creed.

"I bespeak for it a wide membership. (Signed) D. CARD, DOUGHERTY, Archbishop of Philadelphia.

"The American Red Cross is an organization of which our country is justly proud. It is dedicated to a noble purpose, the alleviation of suffering mankind, and the story of its achievements speaks for itself. 'In order that this organization may continue faithful service and bring assistance to suffering humanity in the various crises which arise from time to time, it needs constant encouragement and support.'

"It has ever been the just and proud boast of America that she has never been wanting in generosity in any need, and I am confident that American citizens will not fail to respond as they have in the past to help the Red Cross to continue its ministrations to the unfortunate and suffering. (Signed) W. CARD, O'CONNELL."

KANSAS JUNIORS DOING BIG COMMUNITY WORK

The Junior Red Cross of Republic County, Kansas, has been especially active during the last year in organizing classes conducted under the Junior plan, such as health work in the schools, patriotic program, community play, making of toys and hospital supplies, civic training, making of Easter cards, and equipment, and preparing hot lunches for school children.

FLOUR SACK CAUSES FIRST-AID CALL

An odd case of first-aid was required of a newly installed Red Cross nurse at Bendena, Kan., recently, according to advices from that town.

A deaf man, who was endeavoring to help the woman clerk in a grocery store carry a sack of flour from the store room to his waiting automobile, inadvertently caught the drag-hook in her finger and dragged her instead of the sack of flour across the floor. His back was turned, and being too deaf to hear her cries, he did not know of the accident until he turned to lift the flour into his machine. The hook was so deeply imbedded in the woman's hand that surgery was necessary to remove it, but the Red Cross nurse was able to relieve her pain with first-aid at once while a surgeon was being summoned.

Red Cross nurses in the chapters where public health work is conducted are constantly having just such calls as this, and frequently find themselves the only available help in serious emergencies. In many of the Red Cross Chapters employing public health nurses, the work is financed by the receipts from the annual Roll Call. The Roll Call this year will take place November 11 to 24 and will be simultaneous throughout the United States.

Proving Father Wrong.

With deep anguish he begged her to reconsider her answer. "If you don't marry me, Clarinda, I'll blow my brains out." "O, would you really?" she gurgled. "Could you, do you think? You see," she reflected softly, "that would be a good joke on father, for he thinks you haven't any!"—Sissy Stories.

"Naw, suh! I ain't gwine ter take it," and Rastus shuffled out.

RIGHT FORMATION.

The football game was over and at the parlor grate, A maid and long-haired youth were lingering rather late. They talked of goals and touchdowns, but found it rather tame. Till cupid put his nose-guard on and butted in the game. Quoth he, "It's mighty funny if I don't arrange a match." So he fined the couple up, and made them toe the scratch.

The youth was growing nervous neath the weight of new found bliss, And he kinder thought the scrimmage ought to end up with a kiss.

He charged upon the center, she tackled left and right, And the way they held that chair for downs was simply out of sight. He tried an osculation, just an amateur affair, But lost it on a fumble and instead it struck the air.

Then as he landed on his ear he heard the maiden say, "You're penalized for holding, Jim; likewise for off side play."

With set toe he tried another, this time succeeded fine, For he scored an easy touchdown on the crimson two inch line.

And as they sat there by the grate, Communing soul to soul, The parlor door swung open and—

NOTICE TO STOCKMEN.

All stockmen of Medina County are urgently requested to be present at a meeting to be held at the Court-House in Hondo, on Saturday, the 26th day of November, 1921, at 2 o'clock P. M., where will be discussed the law relative to the eradication of ticks in Zone No. 3 which includes Medina County.

In view of the quarantine provisions in said law, it is imperative that same shall be enforced and that every means be adopted towards the effective eradication of the tick during the year 1922.

We want every stockman to be familiar with the terms of said law and with the plan to be adopted for its successful enforcement. Mr. Fred Rodway, with the Live Stock Sanitary Commission, will address the meeting.

We desire the active co-operation of every stockman in Medina County, and we trust that every interested person will attend this meeting.

"Ah," she said with slow impressiveness to the fair maiden who impatiently awaited her fate. "I see by your hand that you are going to be married."

"How wonderful!" breathed the client with a blush and a giggle.

"And," went on the wise one, a note of acerbity creeping into her voice, "I see the happy one is to be Mr. Binks."

"But surely," demured the maid, "you cannot read that from the lines in my hand."

"Lines nothing!" exclaimed the sybil with sudden scorn. "You are wearing the ring I returned to Mr. Binks three weeks ago."

REPORT FROM STATE DEPARTMENT.

The following report, made by the State Department, concerns our school, the Hondo High School. Mr. WISELEY, the Inspector, visited our school November 1, 1921.

STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION
AUSTIN, TEXAS.

Nov. 1, 1921.

J. D. HOWELL, Superintendent.
E. R. LEINWEBER, Pres. of Board.

The work of classifying and accrediting the public schools of Texas is under the direction of a State Committee composed of six members chosen by the public schools and six by the colleges. This committee determines the conditions upon which the high schools are classified and accredited for the purpose of establishing educational standards, encouraging schools to attain these standards, and certifying those that have attained them so as to facilitate the transfer of students to any other school or college.

The regulations as prescribed by this Committee are administered by the State Department of Education through high school supervisors. In the visits of the supervisors and in their reports to school authorities recommendations are offered in the spirit of cooperation and helpful suggestion, with the earnest desire that all school authorities will join with the State Department of Education in raising standards of secondary education in Texas.

In order that the school may be properly certified it is essential that the minimum requirements as outlined in Bulletin 132 be met. To that end, the supervisor who recently visited your school makes the following recommendations:

1. The course of study should be extended to provide for Home Economics and Commercial subjects. To introduce Home Economics would require additional space. A cottage on the campus would be the best solution perhaps.

2. The young people of Hondo evidently do not appreciate a good high school. The high school enrollment is much smaller than is usual in a town of the size of Hondo.

3. Elementary schools meet requirements of classification, and upon application, may be classified as an elementary school of the first class.

4. The school will seek one-half unit credit in Economics. If the written material is of the standard indicated by the recitation of the Civics class, taught by the same teacher, it is recommended that credit be granted.

5. The supervisor takes pleasure in stating that in quality of work, in disciplinary control, and in the general attitude of the pupils, the Hondo High School is one of the best schools visited by him this year. The high standards of high school instruction are well maintained.

Love Scene Incidentally.

By Mary Kate Gafford.

Within his great soft chair she lies,
Her head against his breast,
Her eyes half-closed, contentedly
In momentary rest.
He hovers o'er her watchfully;
He scans her "cherub face";
Her "ruby lips" he touches now
With movements full of grace.
Her lids fly back; blue eyes meet gray;
A sigh escapes her soul;
She struggles valiantly to keep
Her deepest passions in control.

In accents inarticulate
He murmurs soft and low
What words he whispers in her ear
No one may ever know.
She turns on him her "big blue orbs";
He lifts her "dainty chin".
Her lips, half parted, now disclose
The "pearly teeth" within.
In speechless waiting still she lies—
No word of hope, or love, or doubt.
Indeed, how can she utter speech?
The dentist's hand is in her mouth
